CONSPIRACY CHARGE HITS 2 RACE BOARD OFFICIALS

Two members of the State Racing Commission were charged today in superior court with using their official positions in a conspiracy to obtain "large sums of money" from the Eastern Racing Association—operators of Suffolk Downs—and place Eastern's former president in control of Eastern Massachusetts racing.

The charge was made in a bill in equity filed by the Eastern Racing Association, Inc., against Outdoor Amusements, Inc., and Thomas R. Foley and George G. Moyses, members of the Racing Commission.

In the bill it is sought to enjoin the Racing Commission from voting to grant any license to Outdoor Amusements, Inc., to conduct horse racing at Westport.

COMMISSIONER GEO. G. MOYSES

Judge Edward F. Haniffy issued an order of notice, returnable January 4.

Racing Commissioners Foley and Moyses, the latter a former state senator and the former a brother-in-law of James H. Conners, who resigned a short time ago as president of the Eastern Racing Association, were recently named to the commission by Governor Hurley.

RACE DATES ASKED

In part, the bill in equity sets forth that on Dec. 21, Outdoor Amusements, Inc., filed with the Racing Commission an application to hold races from June 5 to August 12, 1939, "on certain swamp and upland, unimproved land, in Westport."

"Sought in the town of Westport," the bill states, the Racing Commission intends holding a race on the application.

The bill further alleges that "on

Fin. Com. Set to Hurl Taxi Fund Bombshell

Startling information is in the hands of the Finance Commission in connection with the alleged $10,000 taxicab slush fund, it was asserted today by the commission chairman, David Lasker. Lasker made his statement following an executive session of the finance commission, at which lines were drawn and plans mapped for the formal probe into the slush fund.

All 21 members of the city council must appear and testify at the investigation, Lasker said, or they will be summoned.

"We'll show those boys across the street something," he said. "By the time we get finished they will know what is what. We have some information which will prove startling."

Meanwhile a majority of the city council has pledged themselves to "tell all" when placed under oath before the Finance Commission.

But not a few of the councilors were a bit miffed at being awak-

BULLETIN

The Fin. Com. probe opened with 18 out of 21 city councilors present. The other three telephoned they would appear later. George J. Nymice, treasurer of the ITOA, and its president, Abraham Miller, were summoned as witnesses.

At around 2 a. m. today by special messengers carrying to the councilors' homes a notice of the Finance Commission hearings.

Speedy solution to the identity of the four councilors who allegedly sought information about the asserted slush fund was expected when the councilors appeared and testified under oath.

With nearly all councilors contacted by the Boston Evening American, they said they would state frankly what they know and expressed hope that the four colleagues would reveal their identity.

ACT SWIFTLY

The decision of the Finance Commission came with surprising swiftness only an hour after the City Council adopted an order by City Councilor Clement A. Norton calling for the probe.

All 21 of the councilors voted for the inquiry although several had spoken against it earlier and expressed the opinion that the Finance Commission would decline to inquire on the grounds that the matter lay outside its jurisdiction.

Lasker contacted three of his colleagues as soon as he heard of the Norton order and reached a decision to investigate immediately.

The slush fund controversy was located when George J. Nymice, treasurer of the I-T-O-A, told the council tax committee that four councilors had approached officials of the association for information concerning an alleged $10,000 fund to push through the council the re-

Seek Other Girl Victims Of Jailed 'Faith Healer'

By FRED PERKINS

Boston Evening American Staff Writer

SPRINGFIELD, Dec. 30—Seeking to connect him with a series of unsolved sex crimes, here and in Greater Boston, police threw a new light today on the amazing character and weird background of "Faith Healer" Edward Askins, 43, just sentenced to a long term in State Prison for "diabolical" attack on a 15-year-old girl.

Investigators now depict him as a real-life "Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde," a dual personality; sometimes a benevolent, Bible-quoting mystic, eager to aid suffering humanity; at other times a pitiless monster, preying on girl and woman dupes and threatening a "curse of death" if he was opposed.

One known victim here was his trusting schoolgirl "patient," pretty little Rosaline Boyse, 15. She lives with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Martin Boyse, in Congress street.

BETRAYED HIMSELF

They, too, were "patients" of bald, lanky "Healer" Askins, and both believed themselves benefited by his occult mummers.

Young Rosaline's experience when the "Mr. Hyde" side of the faith healer's character gained the upper hand resulted in his arrest, trial and conviction.

Sentencing Askins to 15 to 18 years, Judge William C. Giles called him guilty of a "diabolical" plot to win the confidence of the Boyse girl, then betray her.

Yet secret police records, made available exclusively to the Boston Evening American, told a new side of the story.

They revealed the fact that "Healer" Askins himself first betrayed his interest in 15-year-old Rosaline Boyse to authorities.

Stalking into police headquarters, last August, the pale, gaunt "healer" demanded that Rosaline be taken from her parents because he thought she was "unhappy."

If the police wouldn't act, he declared, he would.

Attorney Henry Lasker, counsel

'FAITH HEALER' ASKINS
Got 15 Years

for Askins, corroborated police on this point today.

He said Askins came to him and said he wanted to marry Rosaline if that seemed best.

HELPED GIRL'S SIGHT

"I asked him if he had considered the difference between his age and that of the girl," Attorney Lasker said.

"But Askins told me that wouldn't deter him."

Whether Askins would or would not have married his school girl

"patient" was never allowed to come to the test.

For two police matrons and a woman doctor, investigating his relations with Rosaline, swore out a warrant for his arrest, after hearing the girl's story.

Even on the witness stand against Askins, however, Rosaline, tearfully swore his "faith" treatments had restored her damaged eyesight, at least temporarily.

She told Judge Giles and the jury that the "healer" had been impersonal and fatherly when she first visited him.

She sat in her mother's lap, she testified, and Askins, standing across the room, said:

"Take your glasses off, Rosaline, and look at me. Look at me and you will see normally again."

She obeyed—and her eyes "snapped back to normal," the girl asserted.

THREATENED GIRL

Later, after his relations with her had become improper, the "healer's" personality changed, Rosaline testified.

She said he warned her he would put a curse on her and on her father and mother, if she dared tell of his love-making.

"Just as I can cure, by divine aid, so I can cause death and suffering," Askins boasted, according to the girl.

"If I invoke evil spirits on your family, you will be dead within six months."

Only long and patient urging of sympathetic police matrons and social workers finally persuaded the girl she should accuse Askins and assist in his prosecution.

Hitler-Goebbels Rift Seen Near In 'Love-Theft Beating' Scandal

LONDON, Dec. 30 (INS)—Speculation regarding possibilities of a break between Chancellor Hitler and German Propaganda Minister Goebbels arose today after the Daily Mirror published a report that Goebbels had been severely beaten as a "love thief."

According to the newspaper, Goebbels, No. 3 Nazi and genius of the Reich's mighty press and propaganda machine, was set upon by friends of the husband of Lida Barova, Czechoslovakian film star.

German reports stated Goebbels has been confined to a hospital, suffering from intestinal gripple. But according to the Mirror, he actually was carried to the hospital after being beaten by associates of Gustav Froelich, German film star and producer, husband of the glamorous Barova. Froelich at present is at a concentration camp, where he was sent upon orders of Goebbels, the Mirror said.

Last October, said the report, the actor challenged Goebbels to a duel because of the propaganda minister's attentions to the actress. The challenge was not accepted, the Mirror added, and Froelich was sent away to the camp.

WIFE MAY ASK DIVORCE

Goebbels' wife, who acts as official hostess for Reichsfuehrer Adolf Hitler, when the bachelor

German leader holds state functions, is reported to have gone to Denmark to be divorced from Goebbels.

The attack occurred December 22. Friends of Froelich, according to the Mirror, surprised him in the apartment of the buxom blonde beauty and set upon him.

"These friends had an old score to settle with Goebbels apart from his unwanted attentions to Froelich's present wife," the newspaper said.

Goebbels, the Mirror related, was attacked by the fists of the movie producer's loyal friends. A tooth was knocked out, his eye blackened and swollen, and he fell to the floor moaning. He was saved from a further thrashing by his chauffeur who rushed in and bore him off to a nursing home for treatment.

At the hospital, Nazi authorities took charge, and all of Goebbels' many official Christmas duties were cancelled and word was given out by DNB (the official German news agency) that he was suffering from an attack of intestinal gripple.

A LONG HATRED

Froelich, a handsome, blond actor, is popular throughout Germany.

Froelich is reported to have cherished a personal hatred for Goebbels since 1934, when the film actor had to divorce his first wife, the beautiful actress, Gitta Alpar, as a Jewess.

PARTED BY GOEBBELS—The reported beating up of Joseph Goebbels by friends of German film-star Gustav Froelich over theft of second wife's love, recalls how, in 1934, the No. 3 Nazi forced Froelich to divorce his first wife, Gitta Alpar, as a Jewess. 3 Women Hunted in Taxi Slaying

WATERVILLE, Me., Dec. 30—

Three women, believed to have lured to death Napoleon Lessard, 52-year-old taxi driver, were being sought today.

At the same time, a statewide dragnet was thrown out for Lessard's taxi and the actual slayer, believed to be attempting to make his getaway in it.

Lessard's charred body was found in the ruins of a barn here after a fire last night.

Lessard was last seen alive when the three women, now sought, got into his cab yesterday afternoon.

That the case was one of murder and robbery definitely was established by Medical Examiner Napoleon A. Bisson. The back of Lessard's head, it was found, had been bashed in, and a blood stained cloth was found near the burned barn, along with Lessard's glasses, likewise bloodstained.

In the hotel room in which Lessard lived, police found three bank books showing deposits totaling $7000, and also power company stock having a face value of $1400.

Lessard ran his taxi business here for 20 years, and was known often to carry as much as $500 on his person. The pockets of his clothing when his body was found, were found turned inside out, but $200 remained sewed inside the lining of his coat.

Seek Death Clues In Hunting Cabins

KINGSTON, Pa., Dec. 30 (AP)—

Little hunting club lodges scattered through the wooded mountains where pretty Margaret Mylin was found slain were searched today by a special detail of 20 state police on a clue that an automobile was seen parked by one of the cabins the night the girl disappeared.

The lodges, in Noxen township, are only a few miles from the icy stream where the 19-year-old business college graduate's nude body was found in a gunnysack.

Block All Pardons For Day

BULLETIN

All pardon action by the Governor's Council, was blocked today when the council failed to obtain the two-thirds vote necessary under the law to suspend the rules so pardons can be considered. The most obtainable was a vote of 5 to 4, with 4 to 3 required. The council then adjourned until Tuesday.

The showdown between Attorney-General Dever and Governor Hurley over pardons came today with the governor and council in session—to consider more pardons—and Attorney-General Dever and Acting District Attorney John J. Ryan of Essex County announcing they were waiting in the attorney-general's office to be "invited" to the meeting.

Councillor Frank A. Brooks of Concord, chairman of the subcommittee on pardons, tossed the red hot question of whether Dever and Ryan were to be "invited" straight back into Governor Hurley's lap.

Tuesday, Governor Hurley said the decision as to whether Dever and "any interested district attorney" were to be "invited" to attend the pardon hearings was entirely up to Chairman Brooks.

PUT UP TO HURLEY

Brooks, however, today refused to assume any responsibility for the "invitation" or lack of one, and insisted that Governor Hurley, as presiding officer at the Council meeting, should assume full responsibility for the decision.

At least two councillors were reported ready to move for a recess for the purpose of asking the attorney-general to come into the meeting.

The councillors already were in trouble even before their meeting began.irate sportsmen's club officials and others descended on the council chambers, buttonholing members and protesting against the appointment of James A. Agnew, Boston city councillor, as the new state fish and game commissioner to take the place of Patrick W. Hehir.

Pardons, however, were the main business of the council meeting.

GIRL FAVORS PAROLE

Chief storm center was the last-minute attempt to pardon Tony Santella of Worcester, who, like his pal, Raymond L. S. Patriarca, has served less than four months of two concurrent terms of from three to five years.

There was at least one person, however, who pleaded today that the Worcester gunman be let loose and given another chance. She was Barbara McCarthy, 28, his sweetheart for nine years, who lives at a front street, Worcester hotel.

Ralph W. Robart, chairman of the parole board, declared the petition for Santella's pardon was one of about 50 submitted to him by Governor Hurley.

ROBART TO ACT

Robart announced that he was recommending to the council that a parole for Harry G. Emmons of Methuen be not granted. The mother of the child killed by Emmons in a hit-and-run accident has protested vigorously against Emmons' release, Robart said.

Robart said he was recommending paroles for Antonio Giannetti, a life; Dominick Beninato, another life; James F. Burnett, who has served 10 years of a 20 to 30 year sentence for armed robbery; and John Miller, who has served 12 of a 25 to 30 year sentence for armed robbery.

Giannetti's parole is recommended only on condition he leaves this country and never returns, Robart said.

Many Rescues Mark Greater Boston Fires

A series of fires, sweeping several Greater Boston homes today, were featured by many rescues.

Mrs. Percy Hadley, 44, recovering from a recent operation, was carried out by firemen in Lynn when fire broke out in her home on Farrar Street.

Fireman John Sweeney was injured while fighting the blaze when he slipped and fell down a flight of stairs. Taken to an hospital, it was found his hip was injured.

In Watertown, firemen rescued "Vaggy," a dog, and "Skipper," a kitten, from the home of Mrs. Alice Radideau, on Chadbourne terrace.

Mrs. Radideau wrapped her two children, Mary, 6, and Charles, 5, in blankets and carried them from the house when the fire was discovered. Fire Chief John W. O'Hearn, however, found the two children weeping for their pets, which had been left behind.

He dashed into the burning building to bring out the dog and kitten.

In Stoneham, police questioned two eight-year-old boys who, they said, confessed setting a fire that did $8000 damage to St. Patrick's Church. Additional apparatus had to be summoned from Wakefield, Reading and Melrose to fight the blaze.

The two boys both are pupils in the church school, police said. They are to be questioned in juvenile court in Woburn next Thursday.

but meanwhile have been turned over to their parents.

WGMAN, 86, FLIES FIRE

Mrs. Mary Hendseldt, 86, and her two daughters, the Misses Matilda and Bertha, fled to the street in their nightclothing when fire, early today, broke out in the basement of their home on Aberdeen street, Cambridge.

In Billerica street, West End, eight adults and six children, members of four families, were led through smoke-filled hallways to safety. Sergeant Philip Dennehy and Policemen Charles Hewett and George Harnois were the heroes of the occasion. They saw smoke pouring from the basement of the building, and, forcing their way in, aroused the occupants.

NEW YORK, Dec. 30 (AP).—One man was killed, several persons were carried to safety and more than 100 were driven into the cold in night clothes when fire destroyed the bar and grill of the seven-story Hotel Lido at 65th street and Columbus avenue today.

The dead man was identified only as Marthin Wexler, 42.

The fire was discovered by Nat Emshowitz, night elevator operator, who made eight trips, bringing down 60 persons before smoke forced him to abandon his rat.

Guests clustered at windows screaming for help. Some climbed to the roof and went down the rear fire escape. Others had to be rescued.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 30 (AP).—Secretary Ickes reported to President Roosevelt today that the Public Works Administration had put a $1,574,769,686 program "completely under contract" in the last six months, to the accompaniment of a "constantly accelerated recovery in business and industry."

The report went to the White House amid speculation that Mr. Roosevelt might support a movement among congressmen to make the PWA a permanent agency.

Bill Poster Falls 45 Feet Into Crowd

Narrowly missing pedestrians, Harold Stott, 36, bill poster, plunged 45 feet from a scaffold to the sidewalk on Massachusetts avenue, Cambridge, today. His back was broken.

Stott fell between scores of persons during the morning rush hour near Porter square. He was taken to Cambridge City Hospital where doctors said he would probably die.

Still conscious when he reached the hospital, Stott amazed doctors and police by calmly giving his name and describing his plunge.

"I was walking along a narrow foot bridge," Stott said. "It was on the top of the scaffold. Suddenly I felt myself in the air. I really don't know how I slipped off."

"I live on Hampton street, Boston, and I'm not married." A few minutes later he added weakly:

"I don't feel so bad."

She'll Soon Be A Real Bride

And so they'll be married, and live happily after all! They thought they WERE married—until police came pounding on the door of their honeymoon room on Clarendon street, Back Bay, earlier today.

"Frances Grande," said the policeman.

"No," said Frances, who is 16 and whose parents live in East Eagle street, East Boston. "I am Mrs. Salvatore Pino now."

"Mrs. eh?" said the policeman, and turning to Pino, who is 23:

"Let's see your marriage certificate."

SHOWS LICENSE

"He doesn't speak English," Frances intervened. "He—he was born in this country, you see, but his people took him back to Italy, and he's only been back here a few months. But, oh, yes, we're married, all right. Here! Look! Here's the paper we got. We were married in Manchester, N. H."

The policeman took one look at the paper, then glanced sharply at the young couple—Pino standing with his arm protectively about Frances' shoulders, she with the happy, proud look in her eyes. "I'm not a priest," the officer said slowly, "but you're not married. This is only a marriage license."

GIRL WEEP

Frances burst into tears. At East Boston police station, Pino and Frances again told their stories. Pino with the help of an interpreter. The customs of his native land are strange to him, he explained. In Italy, now well, most Italian marriages are performed in church or by a priest. A civil marriage was something he knew little about.

And so, what with all the formalities, and raising of right hands and all, in taking out a license, he thought they were being married. He never dreamed—

"I'm so happy with him, and I love him so much," Frances sobbed. "My parents forbade him the house; they wanted me to marry a rich man, they said, not a $13-a-week shipping clerk. That's why we had to run away to New Hampshire."

"Oh, I work for Salvatore, too! I wash his shirts, I cook for him. I've stayed home from the show, even, so he could have money for cigarettes. I love him so very much."

JUDGE HELPFUL

In East Boston district court Judge Charles Brown continued charges against the young couple until tomorrow and granted them a five-day waiver.

They left the courtroom, announcing they were going to the Church of Our Lady of Mount Carmel. They'll be married—really married, and by a priest this time—Frances said, smiling through her tears.

Coster's Yacht Guests Checked

NEW YORK, Dec. 30 (AP)—Federal agents checked the log and the guest book of F. Donald Coster-Musica's luxurious yacht, Cargitta, today and listed the names of those who were entertained by the masquerading president of McKesson and Robbins, Inc.

Gregory F. Noonan, acting U. S. attorney, said agents working under his direction had seized the booby in search of further information about the former convict who committed suicide when his past was exposed.

No names were made public but Noonan said it was his understanding that Coster-Musica had entertained men prominent in financial as well as political circles.

As the number of persons accused of blackmailing Coster-Musica—officials have estimated he paid $50,000 a year for protection—rose to five, the Securities and Exchange Commission set Jan. 5 for the opening of a public inquiry into the drug firm.

The investigation, the SEC said, was ordered because it appeared necessary "to determine the character, detail and scope of the audit procedure followed by Price, Waterhouse & Co. in the preparation of financial statements."

Eleanor Powell Lauds Waltz

HOLLYWOOD, Dec. 30 (AP)—Eleanor Powell, the outstanding feminine dancer in motion pictures, came up today with a New Year's prediction of a "dance revolution" in 1939.

It will, she said, come suddenly. The result will be a return of the waltz.

"The history of dancing," Miss Powell explained, "is like the pendulum. A fad dance is created, then another that is more daring and this continues until it reaches the extreme. This will happen suddenly and soon."

She emphasized that she has no objection to the "jitterbug" craze. The "Lambeth Walk" she put down as "a step in the direction of the conservative."

WILLIAMSBURG, Ky., Dec. 30 (AP)—Sheriff Everett Ellison said today examining trial for 12-year-old Maple Helton, being held in jail as a "delinquent child" following the hammer beating of her semi-invalid grandmother, is set for Monday morning.

The child was taken in custody yesterday after her grandmother,

Hold Girl, 12, in Hammer Attack

Mrs. Nettie Hampton, 56, was found severely beaten in the home occupied by the older woman and her grandchild.

County Attorney Walter Ray Smith said the pretty blonde girl has "exceptional intelligence," and quoted her as saying she beat her grandmother unconscious because

"she said my daddy ain't no good." Smith said the child related how she planned the attack on her way home from school and hid the hammer under her pillow in the bed she occupied with her grandmother.

She told him she waited quietly until her grandmother was asleep and then swung the hammer with both hands.

Mrs. Hampton, who is in a serious condition at a hospital, was quoted by the county attorney as saying she was stunned by the first blow and could not cope with the strong child who pulled her from the bed by her hair.

Maple, whose mother is dead, has been living with her grandmother while her father worked in a coal mine in a nearby county.

Smith said that authorities first learned of the attack when Maple ran barefooted to the home of neighbors at Rockhold, screaming that a man was beating up her grandmother.

Loyalist Ship Run Aground

GIBRALTAR, Dec. 30 (AP)—A daring dash for freedom through blazing guns of Spanish insurgent warships and shore batteries ended in failure for a lone government destroyer today, amid the crashing of shells in startled Gibraltar itself.

The Jose Luis Diaz, a virtual prisoner here since August, attempted to sneak through a gauntlet of lurking insurgent ships in the pitch darkness of early morning. But destructive fire of her alert enemy forced her aground only 50 yards from the British shore with seven of her crew killed and 11 wounded.

Before grounding, the destroyer struck a heavy blow on her own account by ramming and sinking the 1500-ton insurgent sloop Jupiter.

Shortly after the darkened 1650-ton Jose Luis slipped from the protection of the Gibraltar harbor the short-lived, one-sided naval battle began.

Guns began to blaze from the 10,000-ton cruiser Canarias and other insurgent warships, long lying in wait. Insurgent batteries at Ceuta, Spanish Morocco, some 15 miles across the Straits, also went into action.

Shells from the Canarias tore through and destroyed two houses on Gibraltar's Catalan Bay. Several occupants were injured and taken to a hospital.

The fact that the shells landed on British soil, injuring British subjects, may lead to vigorous British diplomatic or other action.

Persia, France Break Over Pun

PARIS, Dec. 30 (INS)—A diplomatic breach without a parallel in recent times occurred today when Iran (Persia) broke off relations with France because of an allegedly disparaging pun in the French press.

Professional jokers in the three Persian publications had indulged in a play of words during the recent cat show in Paris, using "chat," the French word for the household feline, in such a manner as to enrage the Shah of Iran.

Both words have the same pronunciation but "chat" bears, in French idiom, a double meaning. The Persians chose to read an insulting inference into the articles in question and serious anti-French demonstrations took place in Teheran, the capital of Iran.

The rupture in relations was officially announced by the French foreign office after Sepah Bodry, Iranian minister to Paris, had submitted a formal note informing France of his government's decision.

Loyalist Troops Flee Into France

PELIGNAN, France, Dec. 30 (AP)—A group of Spanish government soldiers fled across the frontier into France today after government assault guards had tried to force them to go to the fighting lines. Others who balked were disarmed.

France Attacked For Snubbing Of Chamberlain

ROME, Dec. 30 (AP)—France's refusal to have Prime Minister Chamberlain of Britain mediate the French-Italian territorial fight brought a new barrage of Fascist attacks today.

The attitude of France toward Italy's "natural aspirations," the newspaper Il Messaggero said, was today's "greatest obstacle" in the path of European pacification. The press indicated that Italy regarded Chamberlain's January 11 visit as an opportune occasion, for discussion of her territorial demands and might bring the subject up regardless of the French attitude.

Pope to Plead Peace At Chamberlain Visit

VATICAN CITY, Dec. 30 (AP)—Vatican circles said today that Pope Pius would recommend that Europe solve its problems without war when he receives Prime Minister Chamberlain and Foreign Minister Viscount Halifax of Great Britain during their Rome visit in January.

Beyond expressing his hope for peace, they said, the Holy Father probably would refrain from talking politics during the audience, which is scheduled for January 13.

Franco Troops Blast Through

HENDAY, France (At the Spanish Frontier), Dec. 30 (AP)—Spanish insurgent forces smashed through government lines today in the Cambrasa zone, north of the battle-torn Balaguer sector on the Lerida front in Catalonia.

Reports reaching the border said the insurgents had occupied Cambrasa and continued their push toward the village of Cubells in an effort to cut both highway and water communications of government troops.

Military observers said they believed the northern column was attempting to establish contact with the central column, which last night blasted its way through the Balaguer bridgehead.

PLANES BOMB MISSION

SHANGHAI, Dec. 30 (AP)—Southern Baptist headquarters received a telegram today reporting Japanese planes had bombed Shu-chow, 120 miles north of Canton, severely damaging two missionary houses.

BOSTON after DARK

By GEORGE HOLLAND

SEVERAL LINES OF DIALOGUE in Noel Coward's "Set to Music" will be whittled down to Boston measurements of morality by City Censor John Spencer . . . No publicity will be attached to the "cuts" . . . The show is enjoying tremendous patronage . . .

Felix Thud, the Mayor's demure cigarette girl, has been given an engagement ring by Ray Barlow, trumpeter-vocalist of Louis Benick's band.

Boston is the only major city of the east which has nominated Sunday as the night to celebrate New Year's Eve . . . In New York, the nightclub and hotel owners are making the best of the 3 o'clock liquor curfew which starts on Sunday mornings, and the citywide revel is scheduled for observance according to the calendar (Saturday night) . . .

The best successful attempt to switch the New Year's Eve celebration to Sunday, however, was made in order to win an extension of liquor laws. When the hour gained by the city of Boston from the curfew was the two hours short of the New Year's morning, liquor laws were extended.

For thousands of otherwise placid citizens, New Year's Eve is the one night of the year set aside to howl . . . It would not be a major operation to effect an amendment excepting New Year's Eve alone from the normal "legal hours of hearing" . . . New Year's Eve is not a normal night . . .

There is a certain logic in when the "highly" of the restaurant and hotel managers present their case to the city council . . . It is not the case of the city council favor 3 a. m. and the city council . . .

The city council . . .

Offer of Help to Mr. Lemke:

The story in yesterday's edition of the loss by Nathaniel A. Lemke of his law office of his papers, and the search for the same, is of great interest.

Eliza F. Shamon, Boston College, '20, Harvard Law School, '21, in a kindly letter offers practical aid to the young man.

Knowing how important these notes are to a student at the Harvard Law School, and how utterly helpless one would be without them, as no textbooks are used in the course whatsoever, I am willing to allow Mr. Lemke to use my lecture notes which I took at the school in the years 1920 to '23, Mr. Shamon writes.

His office is in the O. J. Smith Building.

Once Over Lightly:

William W. Howard, the high school basketball coach, is in town to get first-hand knowledge of the conditions in a school which is being renovated as a high school for the South. Howard is the "spirit" of the school, and he is the one who is the "spirit" of the school.

William H. Howard is a charming restaurant on the Charles was knocked out of business by a hurricane, is negotiating for a Boston hotel . . . Howard is a charming restaurant on the Charles was knocked out of business by a hurricane, is negotiating for a Boston hotel . . .

The Kramers is a modern, comfortable little theater which was inspected yesterday by the Boston movie reviewers, with Manager George French, (formerly manager of the Keith Theater) officiating as host at a gay party.

Smoked Taste Of Shoulder Very Popular

By MARTHA LEE
FROM MARTHA LEE'S FRIDAY MORNING BROADCAST OVER
STATION WMAZ, 11.35 A. M.

There is a new way to enjoy the smoked taste of the shoulder. It is a new recipe for a smoked shoulder, which is a very popular dish. The recipe is as follows: Take a shoulder of pork, about 3 pounds, and rub it with a mixture of salt, pepper, and brown sugar. Then smoke it over a wood fire for 4 hours. The result is a delicious, tender, and flavorful dish. This recipe is a variation of the traditional smoked shoulder, which is a very popular dish in the South. It is a dish that is easy to make and that is sure to be a hit at your next dinner party.

HEINZ OVEN-BAKED BEANS

"I MARRIED AN ANGEL" is the name for this divinely becoming cocktail hat which Harryson designed! It shows the way he dexterously handles the fine dressmaker details of smoking, tucks, shirring and stitching. This is a white crepe turban, shirred in folds so that it gives the effect of cut velvet. A sheer black veil shadows the face and ties in a bow at the top-back to fall in long loops over the hair. Speed Test Tuesday For Skaters

[illegible]

It is a well-known fact that the majority of the world's population is still living in poverty. The World Bank estimates that in 1998, 1.1 billion people lived on less than $1 a day, and 2.5 billion on less than $2 a day. The World Bank also estimates that the number of people living on less than $1 a day will increase to 1.5 billion by 2010, and to 2.5 billion by 2020. The World Bank also estimates that the number of people living on less than $2 a day will increase to 3.5 billion by 2010, and to 5.5 billion by 2020. Foxx Leads In Runs Batted In With 75

Foxx and Greenberg, Greenberg and Foxx; they certainly made it hot for those fellows out there in the box.

Besides leading the American League in hitting and home run jolting during the season of 1938, these two powerful first-basemen proved that they did most of the damage in the clutch by also topping the field in runs-batted-in.

Foxx's league-leading total of 175 runs-driven-in was the best in his glittering career, although below the quantity of 183 Hank Greenberg plastered across the counter for Detroit in 1937. Greenberg displayed his consistency by driving in 146 for second place on the roster in 1938.

Joe DiMaggio of the Yankees, who was second in the pay-off clouting in 1937 with 167 runners homering home, came up with 140 in 1938 to rank third. When another New Yorker, Lou Gehrig, hammered home 114 runs during the campaign he broke his own record with 100 or more runs batted in for 13 straight years.

The league as a whole batted in more runs in 1938 with 6100 as compared with 6066 in 1937, although the Yankees, leaders in this devastating work as well as in the pennant chases both years, dropped from 922 runs knocked over the pan in 1937 to 917 in 1938.

In another type of "hitting," Frank Crosetti of the Yankees, who made such a "hit" with his timely hits in the World Series, was nicked exactly a dozen times by the pitchers in 1937, but in 1938 the hurlers generously raised the ante to 15, making it the third straight year in which he was the leading target of the league.

Acting as the artful dodger of the circuit may explain why for the second straight season, Crosetti was struck out the most times, whiffing 90 times in 1937 and 97 times in 1938. Chester Laabs of Detroit turned in an individual high for one game by breezing five straight times against Bobby Feller.

Double Windup On Bowser Card

With Gus Sonnenberg and Rudy Dosek already signed for his main bout, Promoter Paul Bowser decided to feature next Friday's wrestling tournament at the Boston Garden with a double windup. For the co-feature he signed Jim Casey, big brother of the world's champion, to meet The Shadow. The match will be a severe test for both principals and for Casey it looks like the hardest bout he has ever had, in this country or Europe. Both main events will be best two falls in three, and it looks like the customers are in for one of the season's best cards. All main bout contestants promised Promoter Bowser they will train at local gymnasiums. Promoter Bowser said his complete card will consist of six bouts.

Dedham Sextet Plays Brockton

Resting undefeated on the top of the Eastern Mass. Hockey League standings, Dedham high school will face its stiffest test of the season against Brockton tonight as the young circuit swings into its weekly four-game session on the Arena ice.

In the other games Natick faces Brockton, Hudson battles Somerville, while Lexington squares off against Malden.

Hudson, fully recovered from injuries, will probably find the going rough against the Somerville outfit that rung up its first victory of the season against a formerly unbeaten Brockton club last week.

With Will Morgan, Charlie Amstutz and Ev Bartlett on the firing line, the Hudson team should stand off the Lexington team threats with Al Vaccaro in the leading role.
